Deloitte Extends the Power of Salesforce

Deloitte, Titan's valued partner needed to provide a dynamic, multi-language label generation product for customers in order to meet any regulation and every requirement. Deloitte was looking for an end-to-end solution to natively connect to the Salesforce UI and provide translations by pulling and pushing live Salesforce data. The required solution needed to be able to translate between 50 and 100 languages, using a pre-defined order, and fully dynamic and flexible tools.

In addition, Deloitte wanted to fast track time to market for customers and skip extensive development.

Harnessing the Power of the Salesforce Translation Workbench

Deloitte approached Titan to help create this dynamic label generation product and turn it into a market-leading solution. Label data needed to come from Salesforce in real time and have the ability to be used for a wide variety of products. The Titan/ Deloitte partnership seamlessly executed this project and created a cutting-edge multi-language label generation product in a short amount of time. One way in which this was achieved was through Titan's smooth integration with the Salesforce Translation workbench, which meant translations could be done efficiently and to a very high standard.
